

BY MICHAEL DOWNES, THE OKLAHOMAN

Travelers wait for their planes Tuesday at the newly opened Redbud Bar at Will Rogers World Airport. The bar is one of three food and beverage facilities celebrating their official grand opening today as the airport's renovation and expansion project continues.

Three airport eateries give travelers choices

By Adam Wilmoth
Business Writer

Will Rogers World Airport travelers have more options — and more temptation — to eat and drink before their flights now that the airport has opened three dining facilities in the new west concourse.

The Route 66 Grille, Redbud Bar and TJ Cinnamons opened on a limited basis last week, but will celebrate their official grand opening this morning.

"We're thrilled to finally have these open on the concourse," airport director Luther Trent said.

"It's important to the airport because they are revenue producing, but our main concern is the traveler. They're our customers, and we think this will help provide for their needs."

The food area is designed to feature Oklahoma themes, both in the names and the decor. Tributes to famous Oklahoma natives including Reba McEntire, Toby Keith and Mickey Mantle adorn the ceilings and glass partitions filled

See SHOPS, back page